THE [NUMB. 856.] South-
Carolina Gazette.
From MONDAY October 1st, to MONDAY October 8th, 1750.

MADRID, May 12.

THE King having ordered Mr. Wall to follow the King of Great Britain to Hanover, has ſignified to that Miniſter, that the chief Reaſon of this Order was, to accelerate, as much as poſſible, the Regulation of the Affairs that remain undecided between the two Courts, his Majeſty being deſirous of nothing more than to ſettle the Affairs of America upon a ſolid and laſting Footing. His Majeſty is determin'd to do all that lies in his Power towards it, as far as is conſiſtent with the Dignity of his Crown, and the Intereſt of his Subjects, with regard to the Limits of their Navigation in the Weſt-Indies. Mr. Keene, Miniſter Plenipotentiary from his Britannic Majeſty, whoſe Negociation has been impeded ſome Weeks, by the Marriage of the Dutcheſs of Savoy, has reſumed his Conferences. The King, in order to contribute as much as poſſible to the Succeſs of the Meaſures taken by the King of Sardinia, in favour of his Subjects, has ordered all Veſſels with the Colours of Savoy, to be received and treated with the ſame Advantages that other Ships, belonging to thoſe Nations that are in Friendſhip with this Crown, meet with.

Vienna, June 20. By the new regulations made by Count Haugwitz in the finances, which no longer meet any obſtruction, the revenues of the hereditary countries, which formerly did not exceed 20 millions, are now encreaſed to 38, ſo that allowing, according to this nobleman's plan, 17 millions to defray the charge of the troops, there will remain 21 millions in the treaſury. We have begun to introduce the ſame regulation in the Queens dominions in Italy, and doubt not of its being attended with equal ſucceſs.

Hague, June 25. Admiral Schryver is returned from a voyage he lately took into Zealand to ſee the condition of its marine, and reports, that it is in a moſt deplorable ſituation, that whole province not being able to ſend out 3 men of war in caſe of the utmoſt neceſſity. This admiral is therefore very ſoon to return into Zealand, with orders to cauſe two new arſenals to be built; that is to ſay, one at Middleburgh, and the other at Fleſſingue; and to ſee that the utmoſt diligence is uſed in building ſeveral new men of war.

Dublin, June 16. The tranſports which ſailed from hence with Col. Laſcelles's regiment of foot for Nova-Scotia, were ſeparated in a ſtorm, part of them are put into Kinſale, Waterford, and Milford.

Dublin, June 19. We hear an order is iſſued for another regiment of foot on this eſtabliſhment to be ſent to Nova-Scotia, for which the ſeveral regiments are to caſt dice on the drum.

Edinburgh, June 26. We have the agreeable accounts by the ſhip Janet, Capt. Irvine, juſt now arrived in Leith-Road from Zetland, that the Carteret and Pelham Buſſes have been very ſucceſsful, having caught no leſs then 21 barrels of herrings at the very firſt hawl, that they had diſpatched their tender with a cargo to Hamburgh, and hoped to be in the market before the Dutch. Capt. Irvine has brought along with him a barrel of herrings, for a ſample, to be ſent up to Admiral Vernon, and Alderman Janſſen; 'Tis added, that the Greenland ſhip belonging to this place has caught three whales.

Breſſa Sound, in Shetland, June 13. Arrived the Pelham Buſs and Diſpatch tender.

There came into the ſound the ſame day, a Dutch admiral and 60 buſſes. As alſo 3 Swediſh and 2 French buſſes, and more of the ſame nation are to follow.

The Carteret buſs and her tender are expected in this evening.

London, June 26. According to letters from Hamburgh of the 5th Inſt. N.S. they begin to talk again of the election of a duke of Courland, and ſome even pretend that it will come on forthwith; by means of the approaching diet extraordinary in Poland; and that it will be carried in favour of marſhal Saxe; which they think ſo much the more probable, as this general offers to reimburſe the great Sums which the Czar Peter the Great lent the ſtates of Courland; by which means Ruſſia will be deprived of all manner of pretext for keeping the troops in that dutchy, and traverſe his election.

Laſt week one Hannah Snell, born at Worceſter, who was ſeven years in a marine regiment by the name of James Gray, went to the Eaſt-Indies in Adm. Boſcawen's ſquadron, and was at the ſiege of Pondicherry, preſented a petition to his royal highneſs the duke of Cumberland, praying ſome proviſion might be made for her now ſhe is diſcharged the ſervice. His royal highneſs referred her petition to general Frazer, to report it to him, and make her a ſuitable proviſion according to her merit. It ſeems her ſweetheart being impreſſed into the marine ſervice, ſhe put on mens cloaths and entered in the ſame regiment, went to the Eaſt-Indies in the ſame ſhip with him, and was his meſmate while he lived (he dying in his voyage) and was a ſervant to one of the lieutenants. She behaved with great intrepidity as a ſailor and ſoldier, and her ſex was never diſcovered by either her ſweetheart or any of her comrades, 'till ſhe made the diſcovery herſelf by the above-mention'd petition.

London, June 28. Some private letters from the Hague ſay, that there have been two people lately arreſted at Amſterdam, for ſeditious practices; one of them a baker, who is grown rich, and had left off buſineſs; and that there is a talk of levying the fiftieth penny, ſome ſay for five years, others only for one, in order to fill the empty coffers of the republick.

The buſſes fitted out this year from Holland on the white herring fiſhery off Shetland, are 239, and jaggers 27. The firſt two jaggers return home with one and a half or two laſts, and all return by the 31ſt of July.

By the laſt mail we find, that the religious diſpute in the empire far from being appeaſed, is like to become at laſt a very ſerious affair; both parties reſolutely perſiſting in the point they have undertaken to defend. The prince biſhop of Bamberg, who, in quality of director of Franconia, pretends to be greatly aggrieved by ſome ſteps taken ſince this affair has been in agitation, has ſent a miniſter to Hanover, to make repreſentations in conſequence thereof to the king of Great Britain.

London, June 30. We hear that Prince Maurice of Naſſau, field-marſhal of the armies of the States General, is expected over from Holland, to paſs the remainder of his days in England, at his brother's, the Earl of Grantham.

We have certain accounts from Kirkwall in the Orkneys, that great ſhoals of herrings have appeared in the Deer-Sound, Kirkwall, and Scapa Bay; and if there had been any veſſels with nets in that country, great quantities of them might have been taken.

One of the Jaggers belonging to the Dutch Buſſes fiſhing off Shetland, is arrived at Rotterdam, partly laden.

We are credibly informed, that his Royal Highneſs the Duke referred Hannah Snell to Col. Napier; and laſt thurſday the ſaid colonel delivered a certificate of the wounds ſhe received in the different engagements. His Royal Highneſs has been pleaſed to order her to be put upon the King's liſt, by which ſhe obtains 30 l. per annum for her life.

Laſt night there was the greateſt number of reputable perſons ever known at the New-Wells, Goodman's Fields, to ſee and hear the famous Hannah Snell ſing 2 ſongs. She appeared in her marine habit, and met with univerſal applauſe, as ſhe behaved with great decency and good manners.

Thurſday in the evening the lords commiſſioners of appeal met at the Cockpit, Whitehall, about the French Eaſt-Indiaman, taken at Cape-Breton, when the council of both ſides went through the pleadings, and next thurſday night the lords will give their ſeveral opinions on the ſame, when the whole will be finiſhed.

London, July 3. Letters from Hanover adviſe, that his Majeſty ſupped on the 6th inſtant N.S. on ſome herrings preſented to him by the Dutch agent, being ſome of the firſt caught by our good allies this ſeaſon.

Laſt ſaturday Capt. Clark pleaded his Majeſty's pardon at the court of King's-Bench, Weſtminſter.

Extract of a Letter from Amſterdam, dated June 23.

"All the meaſures that can be thought of are taking here to deſtroy the Engliſh herring-fiſhery, and we have ſome room to hope for ſucceſs, tho' 30 traitors to their country are gone into the ſervice of the Engliſh upon this occaſion. They have endeavoured for ſome time paſt to debauch our workmen, in order to get the true method of making the pickle, but have not yet ſucceeded, and it's very much queſtioned whether any of the rogues they have gained over, are ſufficiently ſkilled to let them into that ſecret."

London, July 5. Our advices from Hanover continue to mention great efforts made to carry the election of a King of the Romans; that ſeven votes are already ſecured, and that they hope to gain over the two other electors, not even excepting the King of Pruſſia; but by what means is a profound ſecret, and likely to remain ſo.

By the laſt ſhips arrived at Cadiz from the Carraccas, the court of Madrid has received an account of the ſtate of affairs in that colony. All things are quiet there, and will remain ſo, as long as the troops ſent from Old Spain do not attempt any thing in behalf of the Guipuſcoa company: And indeed, ſuch an attempt could not be made without great riſque, on account of the ſuperiority of the inhabitants, the means they have to ſupport themſelves, and their policy in uſing thoſe troops ſo well, that they have gained their love, and may, whenever they pleaſe, make them all deſert, and fight on their ſide.

They write from Peterſburgh, that ſeveral expreſſes are arrived there from Stockholm, Copenhagen, and other places, with diſpatches of importance. 'Tis pretended that it is proviſionally agreed upon, that affairs between the court of Ruſſia and that of Sweden ſhall remain in ſtatu quo, 'till thoſe which occaſioned a miſunderſtanding between thoſe two courts are ſettled by a formal accommodation. 'Tis added, that in the mean time the troops on both ſides are to remain quiet in their reſpective quarters, without acting in any ſhape againſt one another, either directly or indirectly. Twenty-three new gallies have been launched at Peterſburgh.

We are aſſured that the French proceed with ſuch Spirit in reſtorſing the Marine, that they have lately built no leſs than thirteen new men of war within a ſurprizing ſhort time, in the ſingle port of Toulon: That they talk of vying with the Engliſh ſuddenly as a maritime power, and of making the French flag reſpected in the Mediterranean, and in the eaſt and weſt Indies: And that they will, for the future, always have a number of men of war employ'd to exerciſe the ſailors, that the court may never be at a loſs to man a ſquadron upon the leaſt exigency.——To this project the recovery of Cape-Breton and its cod fiſhery, the ſhare they are working themſelves into in the herring fiſhery on the coaſts of Shetland, and the flouriſhing ſtate of their Weſt-India colonies, muſt greatly contribute.——If it be aſk'd, what has Great-Britain done, in the mean time, to guard againſt the fatal effects of this alarming progreſs, muſt not every one be obliged to anſwer, Nothing?

PHILADELPHIA, September 20.

On Sunday laſt arrived here Capt. Dowell, from Cadiz, by whom there is Advice of the Death of the King of Portugal.

CHARLES-TOWN, October 8.

Laſt Thurſday the Honourable EDMOND ATKIN, Eſq; a Member of his Majeſty's Honourable Council here, embark'd on board his Majeſty's Ship Rye, commanded by Capt. Charles Wray; who the ſame Day attempted to ſail over the Bar, for Providence (where his Excellency Governor Tinker, will embark on board the ſaid Ship for England) but was obliged to put back.——'Tis obſervable, that Capt. Wray during the whole Time of his being on this Station, has given univerſal Satisfaction, upon all Occaſions, and will quit this Province with a moſt amiable Character.

The ſame Day his Majeſty's Sloops Hornet and Scorpion ſail'd; the former for Providence, the latter for Cape-Fear.

We learn from the Country, that inſtead of making 100,000 Barrels of Rice this Year, as was generally expected about 2 or 3 Months ago, there will not be much more than 60,000; and ſome ſeem to doubt if there will be that Quantity made, the late bad Harveſt Weather having done incredible Damage: And that moſt of the Indian Peaſe are loſt.
